A MESSAGE FROM Andrew & Jamie

Dear Partners and Friends,

What a year it has been! As you may know, quite a lot has happened this year in our ministry as well as in our nation. With everything that's going on around us, it's important now more than ever to stand together in unity as the body of Christ.

In the midst of current events, God has been awesome! People are being set free, lives are being transformed, and the Gospel is going farther and deeper than ever before. God is still at work in our world today. We have some incredible stories lined up for you to glorify His goodness and to counter the things that the ungodly are doing.

In this edition of the Gospel Truth magazine, be sure to read the article on Discover the Keys to Staying Full of God as well as my recent interview with Dr. James Dobson, where we discuss this past June's Supreme Court decision.

Thank you so much for your generous support of AWM. None of this would be possible without you. Jamie and I are truly grateful. You are a blessing!

RELIEF TO THE SHAKEN LIVES OF NEPAL

Going farther and deeper with the Gospel means rebuilding lives that have been shaken by the Enemy. On April 25, 2015, a 7.8-magnitude earthquake hit Nepal, a small country nestled between India and China. The Nepalese live on the slopes and in the valleys of the Himalaya Mountains. With no modern warning systems set in place, the villages cannot be notified of any coming natural disaster.

Over 8,000 people lost their lives,¹ and an estimated 8 million people were otherwise affected,² overwhelming hospitals and relief organizations. These numbers don't even include the losses suffered in neighboring countries. But, thanks to the support of our friends and partners, Andrew Wommack Ministries provided financial support to a number of ministries already established and on the ground in Nepal.

Charis Bible College instructor Dr. Delron Shirley is one of those established contacts. He left for Nepal from the South American nation of Colombia after finding out about the earthquake in Kathmandu—just as he was composing a letter to a Christian leader he knows from Nepal. Delron's ministry, Teach All Nations Mission, has been preparing for a catastrophe like this for some time because of the earthquake-prone nature of Nepal. He wrote an article nine years ago, published in his ministry's newsletter, urging Christians to pray for Nepal and to spread the Gospel there before devastation claimed thousands of lives. AWM supported Delron to bring aid to the specific needs of the country.

Charis Colorado graduate Errol Mannon is another contact to whom AWM has been able to extend support. Errol operates an orphanage in Nepal with twelve children, all of whom were reported as safe. His own agency's connections in Nepal are reaching out with physical aid. A couple who works with Errol in Nepal lives just outside of Kathmandu and has been working closely with many Christian pastors in the city to bring relief. On top of being able to offer food, bottled water, clothing, blankets, and plastic tarps, they have a wonderful opportunity to reach out to not only Christians but also Hindus and Buddhists—possibly even distributing Nepalese salvation booklets to them.

Bob and Dawa Wesley, Charis Colorado graduates and founders of Wesley International Ministries, were also in Nepal when the earthquake hit. They, too, are safe and have been taking action to help survivors since the disaster hit. Their ministry's main focus in Nepal is to care for the children and their mothers. As missionaries to Nepal, they are very grateful for the donations they received from AWM. Some specific prayer requests they have are for water, for rescue workers to reach remote villages, and for the wood necessary to burn away the debris that causes disease.

A minister who works closely with Bob and Dawa had been in the country for ten days at the time of the earthquake. This minister relived the event, saying, "It sounded like a 747 jumbo jet was directly overhead, coming down off the mountain." Due to the geography of Nepal, it was difficult for them to get to Kathmandu. Nepal's mountainous terrain creates a landslide-prone environment, which was made worse by the start of its rainy season in June. The main goal of these ministers has been to provide locals with water, food, and safety.

Donations to the Nepal Earthquake Relief Fund also went toward AWM Germany director Juergen and AWM board member Sven, who are leading a charity for an orphanage in Kathmandu. Juergen is directly transferring the donations to pastors he knows in the area. A couple of other Charis graduates are working with them toward equipping Himalayan children with the necessary skills to bring hope to their people.

The needs of the Nepalese people have been great, but the Gospel is being carried to them through the actions of Christ's love. It's being shouted from the rooftops without anyone having to say a word, as the church steps in to care for those the way the Word of God instructs:

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.

James 1:27

The Nepal Earthquake Relief Fund, provided through AWM, brought great aid to the Nepalese communities. Thank you to those who supported these relief efforts. Please know that you have helped spread the Gospel in meeting the material and spiritual needs of the shaken lives of Nepal.^{gt}

The Living Commentary is a computer Bible program with Andrew's personal study notes on over 20,000 verses. And, as the name suggests, it's an ongoing process. He continues to update and write new notes all the time. Over the last six years, an average of 125 new notes have been added each month. The monthly updates are available for download, free of charge, from within the WORDsearch Bible software. As a bonus, the commentary also contains all the notes from the Life for Today Study Bibles.

As an added bonus, Living Commentary owners have free access to the online Living Commentary. This "mobile-friendly" website lets you read Andrew's Bible commentary on any device with a web browser. It's a great way to read Andrew's notes on the go or from a computer that doesn't have the WORDsearch Bible software installed on it.

SPOTLIGHT ON A CHARIS STUDENT: IT'S ALL YOU, GOD! IT'S ALL YOU!

Sometimes the distance isn't the only obstacle standing between a person and attending Charis Bible College. Often words from the past can make the journey appear impossible. Herbert Johnson is the seventh of nine children, whose parents worked hard to raise their family in Falmouth, Jamaica. As Herbert and his twin brother, Harry, grew, it became clear that there was a big gap between them, but it wasn't until eighth grade that his woodworking teacher, Mr. B, privately let Herbert have it: "You'll never be anything. You're so dumb. You'll never even graduate!" The words lodged in Herbert's soul. Mr. B crowned the moment by telling Herbert that he probably wouldn't turn out to be very much in life.

That moment in Mr. B's woodworking class sowed seeds of doubt and fear into Herbert, especially because of a spelling problem that affected his ability to write. Although Herbert had been born again at the age of ten, he believed a lie that day. He began to hide, running from anything that challenged him on paper. Herbert was smart, though, so he developed socially. He was always the life of the party and the popular class clown.

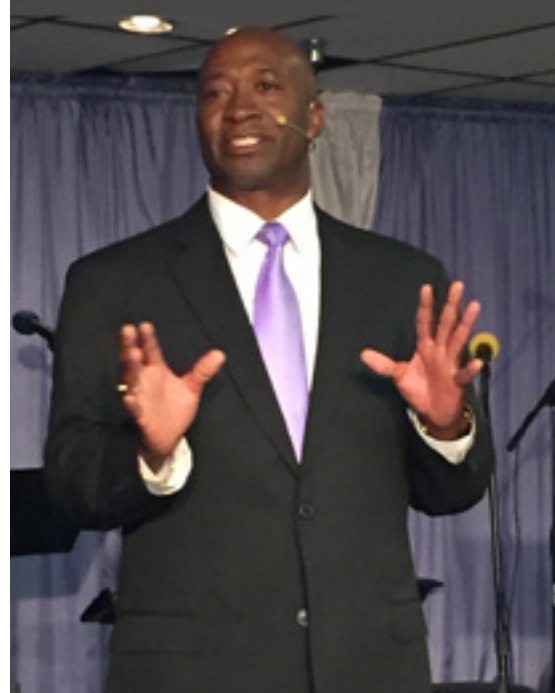

Herbert immigrated to the USA and took a customer service role with Delta Airlines. After being filled with the Holy Ghost in 1987, he experienced a lot of favor at Delta. While based in Atlanta, a lady at a Jamaican restaurant told him, "You need to watch Andrew [Wommack]." Herbert attended a Gospel Truth Seminar in Atlanta and, from that point on, began listening to Andrew.

When Northwest Airlines merged with Delta, Herbert was offered an early retirement package. At that same time, a teacher friend was persistently emailing Herbert, asking him if he would go to Charis. He knew he couldn't do it, so he just ignored her.

However, the Lord started dealing with him about attending a local Charis summer Bible study. A friend from Charis Atlanta told Herbert about another student who had similar challenges when starting Charis but, through Christ, had finished school successfully. This planted a seed of hope in Herbert's heart.

Herbert went to Colorado in July of 2012, "just to check it out." At the groundbreaking ceremony for the Charis property in Woodland Park, Andrew shook Herbert's hand, looked directly at him, and asked, "Are you coming to school?" The question shot deep into his soul. Later during that same trip, Herbert met Barry Bennett, the dean of students, and confessed to him about his spelling problem. Barry told him, "If you can read, you can do the syllabus." Herbert recalls, "I didn't know what a syllabus was, but I just took his word for it."

By August, Herbert had moved to Colorado out of obedience to God. One night in his hotel room, the Lord illuminated Psalm 32:8 to him: "I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye." Four months later, Herbert started Charis. Living in an apartment without any furniture, he took a seat out of his car to use as a couch and used one of his large suitcases as a table. For many weeks, Herbert slept on the floor on top of cardboard and blankets.

As a first-year student, Herbert noticed that most of the students sat as close to the front as they could. He chose to sit in the back, due to fear about his spelling challenges. But as he saw others taking notes from the instructors, God told him to just listen. After one class, Charis Colorado director Greg Mohr told him, "Just write down what the Holy Spirit tells you to."

Despite all the financial and learning obstacles, there was one thing that Herbert couldn't ignore—a joy that was in his heart from hearing the truth of God's Word. His identity was beginning to change. God sent him a friend, Doug. When Doug saw Herbert's frustration with studying, he said, "You can do it. I'll share my notes with you."

When Herbert was a second-year student, finances really began to be a problem. He told his pastor what was going on, and his church paid $1,500 toward his tuition. Then, at his job, someone anonymously paid another $1,000 for him. Even more amazingly, people at his job paid for his second-year missions trip. And then his third-year tuition was supernaturally paid for as well!

The day Herbert graduated from the Third-Year Ministry School at Charis, he came off the stage, looked upward, and pointed, saying, "It's all You, God. It's all You." Looking back, he elaborates on how he felt: "I'm grateful to God that I didn't quit. While I was in school, most people saw me as happy, but I was struggling on the inside with whether I was going to make it. Very few people knew it. At Charis, I learned my identity in Christ and about the Father's love for me." He sums up his Charis experience with "The fear is gone, and the lies are too."

Herbert currently leads a Wednesday night Bible study and coordinates a monthly men's breakfast. He also has speaking engagements in India, Kenya, and Ghana and wants to travel and hold crusades. Herbert would be described by many as an enthusiastic evangelist, "like the old Billy-Graham style." He loves sharing Jesus with people anywhere, at any time.

Discover your destiny. Prepare to live it.

GREG MOHR

First-year students at Charis Bible College Colorado quickly realize that Greg Mohr—instructor, Third-Year Ministry School director, and now Charis Colorado’s new director—is one of the instructors who lives out of a prosperous soul (3 John 2). One of his greatest joys as director, instructor, and pastor is that those he teaches eventually live the Gospel, manifesting Jesus to people in their lives.

Students come to know Pastor Greg in class through his life stories and his “funnies”—stories and jokes with which he begins every class session, like this:

A man agreed to buy windows for his house because the salesman guaranteed him that they would pay for themselves in a year. A few months after having them installed, he began to receive angry phone messages about payment for the windows. Finally, he answered one of the calls, and the salesman asked him why he wasn’t paying for his windows. To this, the man responded, “Well, sir, you were the one who told me they would pay for themselves in a year!”

Greg wasn’t always like this. He was once faced with terminal cancer. Although he had been a Christian for years, it was then that he got serious about seeking God. The Lord led him to people who had a revelation of God’s goodness that he lacked: Healing is just as much a part of the Atonement as forgiveness of sins. Greg explains it in simple and economical terms, “If it was God’s will for us to carry sickness, then why did Jesus take it for us at the cross? Why do we go to doctors and try to get better if it’s God’s will that we are sick? Is that disobeying His will, then?” Students generally offer no reply, so he answers, “Yeah, it always goes over like that.” Students laugh as they realize the gravity of what they’ve just heard.

Greg goes on to explain that “it’s often at a crisis point...that you finally realize you can’t be neutral or passive anymore.” He recalls a time when his nephew Ryan had water on the brain. Because his family didn’t know their authority in Christ, he passed away. Greg concluded, “Praise God, we will see him again, but he didn’t have to die.”

This is one of the reasons he wants students to be grounded in the Word of God. “In what we like to call here the Charis experience, the first year [of Charis] is designed to help people become grounded. We want [them] to understand the Word, the identity truths of who they are in Christ, and God’s unconditional love. We do that using the Bible as our text.”

Greg says that the second year “is geared toward functioning in a practical way and ministering to others. We want [second-year students] to become confident in communicating the Gospel, taking a missions trip, and realizing that the Gospel is about the practical ministry of every believer. It’s just not about the super dupers; it’s about every believer finding their place in the body of Christ.”

As director of both Charis Colorado and the Third-Year Ministry School, Greg plants the seeds early in students that Charis is not a two-year school but a three-year school. “The Third Year is designed to identify and train people in the area of their specific call. We want students to become laser focused on what is in their hearts and on what best suits them.” He shares that as students function in various areas with exposure to plenty of different kinds of ministries, something’s going to “make their baby leap” and come alive on the inside of them. “At Charis, through teaching and revelation, students are encouraged to develop with God a community of students stirring one another up to love and good works.” Greg concludes this by saying, “Andrew is not insecure, or this could never happen here.”

At Charis, Greg is described as a pastor’s pastor. His passion is to help students understand that God’s will is healing for everyone, all the time, and throughout all generations. For him, it’s all about having a prosperous soul and seeking to understand more than being understood. His hope is that above all, Charis will develop healthy people who will live healthy lives and manifest Jesus to the world. gt

HEALING IS HERE CONFERENCE 2015: HOPE WAS NOT DISAPPOINTED

Anticipation filled the atmosphere like a gasp suspended in air. For the hundreds who were present—some even putting their lives at risk to attend—their time had come. It was their turn to receive, and the altar was flooded with expectant believers tenacious about their miracles. Just like blind Bartimaeus, their hopes were not disappointed (Mark 10:46-52 and Rom. 5:5).

The when and where of healing's beginning was explained along with other concepts taken from Andrew's Spirit, Soul & Body teaching. Many had to address painful emotional issues and were, in turn, set free by the unconditional love and grace of God. People were able to break away from religious traditions and literally walk, jump, and run by the substance of what they hoped for.

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

Hebrews 11:1

Carlie Terradez and Daniel Amstutz, who hosted the event, taught healing ministry training during the morning sessions. In the evenings, words of knowledge flowed, further sparking faith for healing. Andrew and fellow Charis Bible College instructors Barry Bennett, Greg Mohr, and Duane Sheriff all poured out a wealth of personal revelation, sharing from Scripture and their own life experiences of the Word working for them. In one afternoon session, a panel of the speakers answered questions people had written down on three-by-five cards. It was both an enlightening and humorous time!

The four-day conference indeed lived up to its name, as "the power of the Lord was present to heal" (Luke 5:17). Various cancers and tumors, the effects of Alzheimer's disease and Parkinson's, partial and total blindness, and immune and nervous system disorders were corrected. One person who attended had this to say:

When I walked into the sanctuary on the first day, I felt like I had stepped into heaven! I was overwhelmed by how strong God's presence was in the room—so much so, it didn't really surprise me to see people getting up out of wheelchairs later on in the week. God is so good!

Other conditions such as diabetes, cerebral palsy, glaucoma, blood conditions, frozen joints, skeletal complications, heart problems, and even baldness had to submit to the power of God at work. Oxygen tanks, canes, and wheelchairs were no longer needed either, and God wasn't done yet. Many long-distance healing testimonies came in as Charis locations live-streamed the event. God's power transcended time and distance.

If your track record with healing has been hit and miss, you need a new experience. Watch sessions of Healing Is Here on the Charis website, in the August 2015 video archives: www.charisbiblecollege.org/news. Also, make plans to join us at next year's event. In the meantime, tune in on Thursdays for Healing School with Carlie, Daniel, and many others: www.charisbiblecollege.org/watch-charis-live. You'll receive weekly benchmark training in how to receive and minister healing to others!

If you need prayer now, Andrew Wommack Ministries is here for you. Please call our Helpline: 719-635-1111, Monday through Friday from 4:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. (MT). We would love to stand in agreement with you. gt

DISCOVER THE KEYS TO STAYING FULL OF GOD

How big is God to you? If you're like most Christians, your God isn't as big as He should be. You might not say this out loud, but sometimes you even feel that He's a nonfactor. You struggle to see Him beyond your circumstances. You get derailed when things don't go your way. Sometimes the slightest thing can set you off. God is always the last resort when it comes to your finances, your health, and your relationships. You're moved more by external things than you are by God. All of that indicates that you're not full of God and the things He's done in your life. And it's also the reason you may not feel confident about your relationship with Him.

If you're going to thrive as a Christian—and not just survive—God has to be bigger to you than anything else. This is the normal life He intended you to live. Now, it's not normal in the sense that it's common, but it's what every believer should be walking in.

Do you remember when God first touched your life? Even if it wasn't a dramatic experience, you remember what it meant to you. The impact of that experience should never be diminished. When God touched my life on March 23, 1968, I had an experience with God that changed me forever. If you've been listening to me for any length of time, you know I refer to this encounter quite a lot. Why? It's my testimony, so I'm going to stick to it! But the truth is, it was real to me. I mean, I felt like I could reach out and touch God. I know I'll never be the same. You might say, "Well, that's because you haven't had any problems like I've had." Believe me, I've had plenty of opportunities to diminish what God has done. My life hasn't been a walk in the park. The reason I talk so much about the experience I had with God is because it's still big to me! It has not lost its impact. I'm still on fire after all these years. I have a relationship with the Lord that's vibrant. And you know what? It doesn't matter what happens, what the devil does, or anything else. I'm going to keep this excitement. I'm going to thrive. You can be the same way.

The Lord spoke to me out of Romans 1 and gave me four keys that I believe will make Him and what He's done in your life bigger so you can have the kind of relationship I'm talking about. Really, these are progressive steps specifically designed to help you stay full of God. You know, you don't go from full to empty overnight; you have to take steps away from what God's done in your life. If you continue along that path, you can get to where you become hardhearted and have a reprobate mind. The good news is, if you take steps in the right direction, you can have a relationship with God that thrives, regardless of your circumstances.

I encourage you to get my Discover the Keys to Staying Full of God teaching. You don't have to settle for what passes as normal in Christianity. Be intentional and grab a hold of these truths, so you can start seeing positive change in your life. I've got this teaching in CD, DVD, book, and study guide formats. Order today by going online: www.awmi.net, calling the Helpline: 719-635-1111, or by completing and returning the enclosed order form. You'll be glad you did! gt

LOVE SPEAKS UP

A SPECIAL INTERVIEW WITH DR. JAMES DOBSON

The original fabric of American society is fraying. Imagine hundreds of hands holding onto the edge of a huge American flag and then pulling in different directions. At first the edges fray, but over time tears develop in the center. Ultimately all that is left are fragments of fabric.

Freedoms guaranteed in the Constitution of the United States, the Bill of Rights, and other documents on which this country was founded are being systematically overturned. Christians have largely remained silent. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is accredited with saying, "The greatest tragedy of this period of social transition was not the strident clamor of the bad people, but the appalling silence of the good people."¹ While his statement was made regarding the civil rights issues of his day, it still applies to the problems facing the American public today.

According to the United States Census Bureau, only half of the American people voted in the last general election. And though recent Gallup polls cite that more than 75 percent of the population identify as Christians,² other statistics say that fewer than 25 percent of them vote!³ According to Founding Father Noah Webster, "The preservation of a republican government depends on the faithful discharge of this duty [voting]; if the citizens neglect their duty, and place unprincipled men in office, the government will soon be corrupted; laws will be made, not for the public good, so much as for selfish or local purposes; corrupt or incompetent men will be appointed to execute the laws; the public revenues will be squandered on unworthy men; and the rights of the citizens will be violated or disregarded"⁴ (brackets added).

Andrew Wommack recently met with prominent Christian leader and family activist Dr. James Dobson to discuss this very issue. During the interview, Andrew mentioned some of the issues that have gone before the Supreme Court, including homosexual marriage and abortion. Both he and Dr. Dobson expressed concern—not just over these issues but also over the Christian response to them: “The Supreme Court ruling that sanctioned gay marriage has grieved me.... But what grieved me even more was the Christian response to it. Or the lack of response,” Andrew said.

Dr. Dobson replied, “When that decision was handed down, my thought was the same as yours: Lord, let God’s people stand up and oppose this because it’s wrong. It is evil.”

Many Christians have been bullied into thinking that speaking up for their beliefs is “intolerant” or “hateful,” but according to Leviticus 19:17, refusing to address sin in a person’s life is the ultimate portrayal of hate. The Bible doesn’t teach tolerance; it teaches love. And love speaks the truth:

Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him.

Leviticus 19:17

We won’t be tossed and blown about by every wind of new teaching. We will not be influenced when people try to trick us with lies so clever they sound like the truth. [15] Instead, we will speak the truth in love, growing in every way more and more like Christ, who is the head of his body, the church.

Ephesians 4:14b-15 (New Living Translation)

“It’s not hate to tell a person that what they’re doing is destructive to them[selves] and to other people,” Andrew said. “It’s love to tell a person if the bridge is out and they’re going to die if they go that way. I think that somehow...the homosexual movement has gained, in a sense, the high ground, to where if you say anything opposed to their agenda, they say you are a hater.”

“I’ve been on the radio about as long as [Andrew has],” Dr. Dobson replied. “...[My concern is]... they’ve [the homosexual movement] achieved everything they’ve set out to do. And what I started to say is that in all that time, I have never been disrespectful to homosexuals. I’ve never been mean. ... I just disagreed with their agenda. You can’t win people to Christ if you’re calling them names. So, they say that I’m hate filled and all those things. But I’ve never— I mean, it’s all on the record. Every program I’ve ever done is recorded. I’ve never done that because I don’t believe in it. But I am committed to a Christian, Judeo-Christian, ethic and especially the institution of marriage.”

Dr. Dobson continued, regarding the homosexual movement, “It’s a strategy.... One of the lies is that everybody who doesn’t accept that whole agenda and everything that goes with it is doing that because of bigotry.”

Andrew and Dr. Dobson went on to discuss previous Supreme Court decisions with terrible social impact on the American people. One of those decisions, the Dred Scott case from 1857, ruled that blacks were not fully human and thus could be owned and treated as property, without government interference. “But the Supreme Court was wrong on that one,” Dr. Dobson said. “Abraham Lincoln brought about the Emancipation Proclamation and overrode the Supreme Court. I wish somebody had the guts to do that today.”

Later in the interview, Andrew said, “I just got a thing last night from...WallBuilders, and [Senator] Ted Cruz is bringing something in front of... Congress, trying to defund Planned Parenthood over all of [this] selling of aborted babies. And he called on the pastors to pray and [said] before we go to Congress, if we don’t bathe this in prayer, we’re destined to lose. ...Most people are asking for the politicians to be like the Christians. But here is a politician asking the ministers...to rise up and to be like him, and I think that’s good.”

“The most recent Planned Parenthood video that was released is so grotesque that you can hardly listen to it,” Dr. Dobson said. He shared that in it, they talk about “a baby whose brains are taken out...a live baby whose heart is beating. ...That is wickedness...I firmly believe that God will not be mocked. Those babies belong to Him, and He will not tolerate that.”

“So, we pray and we vote. Is there anything else?” Andrew asked. “The average person is sitting there saying, ‘What else can I do?’”

Dobson answered, “Well, we’re in a river. I call it the river of culture, and it flows one way...it takes you downstream. It never takes you upstream. And if you’re in that river, it is so difficult to not become part of where that leads. It takes tremendous self-control and instruction and prayer to walk upstream against the river. But...have the courage to be one of those who will stand up and be counted.” He also said, “You know, in a democracy like this, we’re all 1/350 millionth part of the government. ... We have a responsibility for our input to the way the government is run. And that means to vote!”

Andrew then said, “I’ve had some people approach me and say, ‘Well, Paul lived in an antagonistic government system, and yet he just went on and preached the Gospel.’ The difference is...Paul was a minister of the Gospel, but we aren’t just ministers of the Gospel. We’re also Americans [who] have constitutional rights. And what we’re talking about is I can serve under any government and go to prison and be beaten for it. But as Americans...we have a responsibility and an opportunity to turn this thing around.

“The Dred Scott decision was overturned,” Andrew pointed out, “and we could see these things overturned. It’s happened before. It could happen again.” He also declared, “I still believe that godly people are the majority...in this nation.... If American Christians were to stand together...we could turn the tide to this thing."

As Noah Webster said, "In selecting men for office, let principle be your guide. Regard not the particular sect or denomination of the candidate—look to his character..."⁵ and "Let it be impressed on your mind that God commands you to choose for rulers, just men who will rule in the fear of God"⁶ (2 Sam. 23:3).

Andrew believes it is time to unite and stand together as the body of Christ. He is promoting a Declaration of Dependence upon God and His Holy Bible. (You can read it on the next page.) His intention is to get as many people as possible to sign it and then put the Declaration in a full-page ad in major newspapers with everyone's names prominently printed. This is going to be powerful! Together we can stand up and raise a standard that cannot be ignored.^{gt}

DECLARATION OF DEPENDENCE UPON GOD AND HIS HOLY BIBLE

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal and endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights. Since our Creator gave us these rights, we declare that no government has the right to take them away. Among these rights is the right to exercise our Christian beliefs as put forth in God's Holy Bible.

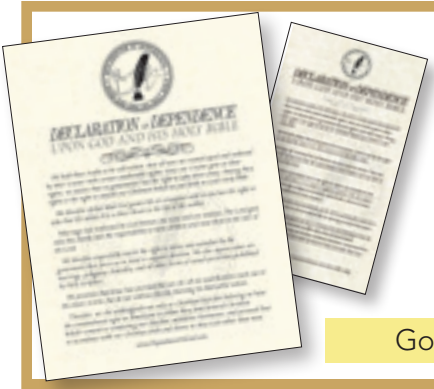

We therefore declare that God grants life at conception and no one has the right to take that life unless it is a direct threat to the life of the mother.

Marriage was instituted by God between one man and one woman. The Lord gave only this family unit the responsibility to have children and raise them in the fear of the Lord.

We therefore respectfully reserve the right to refuse any mandate by the government that forces us to fund or support abortion. We also oppose same sex-marriage, polygamy, bestiality, and all other forms of sexual perversion prohibited by Holy Scripture.

We proclaim that Jesus has provided the cure for all sin and therefore reach out to the sinner in love, but do not embrace the sin, knowing its destructive nature.

Therefore, we, the undersigned—not only as Christians but also believing we have the constitutional right as Americans to follow these time honored Christian beliefs—commit to conducting our churches, ministries, businesses, and personal lives in accordance with our Christian faith and choose to obey God rather than man.

PARTNERSHIP: PEOPLE HELPING PEOPLE

You might not know just how much of an impact your giving has had this year. You've helped change millions of people's lives here and abroad. This means that as our partners, you are lending your hand to help us help people. These efforts are producing results. Here's an update of how your gifts are helping Andrew minister:

Uganda—From the Uganda Update Video

Andrew Wommack Ministries International is helping to create city- and nationwide transformation in Kampala, Uganda. With a $500,000 investment, AWM is helping to create a full-service Christian bank that will bring the business education and affordable finance that born-again church pastors need to buy or maintain their land. In Kampala, whoever holds the purse strings determines the spiritual climate of that region. Currently, Muslims, Catholics, and Hindus own land. They are able to own land because they own banks that will affordably lend to them. However, they will not finance Christian loans, so Christians have their land sold out from under them. AWM partners are having a direct investment impact in evangelizing this African nation. One pastor, Pastor John Kazawa (formerly Sayid Bin Abdullah), said it this way:

Muslims come to us when they are sick. When they get healed, they do not want to go back to being a Muslim. But the Christians cannot keep the new converts easily if they cannot provide them with programs to help them. Evangelism takes on many expressions here. Glory Bank and GloTrans will make it possible for pastors to build churches and own land.

Free Materials—Listen to the testimony of one young woman who benefited from Andrew's promise never to deny people access to materials just because of their financial situation:

When I came to the Lord in 2013, I prayed for wisdom and revelation, but it wasn't until four to five months ago that I came across your website and the vast great anointed teachings you offer. Since then my understanding of the Word and my relationship with God has just gone ballistic. As a leader in our church, I have just grown and matured that not only my fellow church members are noticing it, but I myself am surprised at how God has just anointed me as well to do the work in the ministry, especially teaching the Word. Thank you, Andrew!

T.G., Namibia (Oct. 2015)

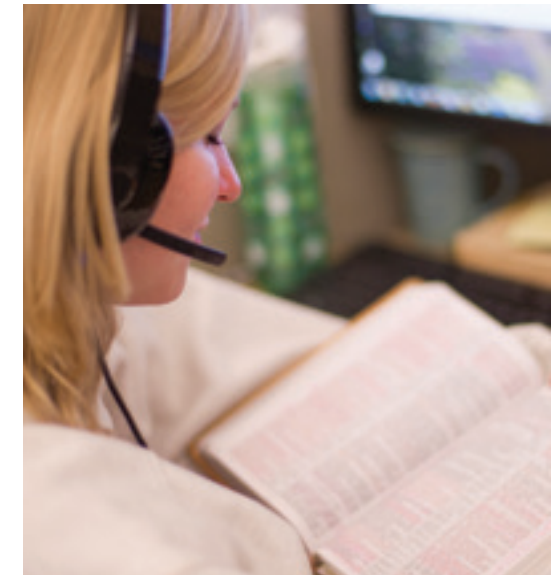

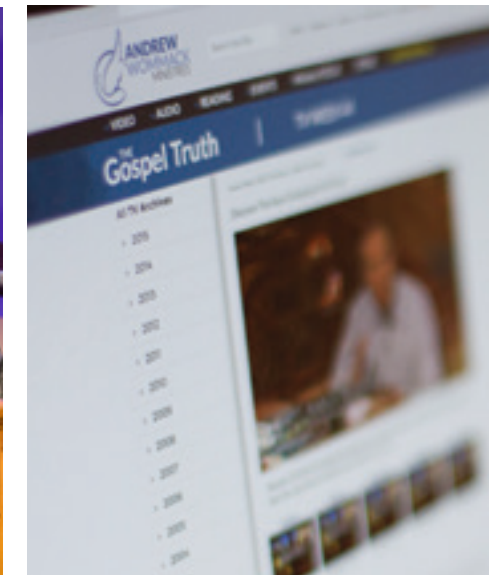

Charis Bible College—In 2015 alone, Charis graduated the largest classes to date. From Charis Colorado, there were 244 second-year graduates and 133 third-year graduates. Also in 2015, our other stateside Charis locations had 307 graduates, and our international Charis locations had 341 graduates. Just think how exponentially we have grown! Thank you for empowering Andrew to spend the rest of his life fulfilling the mandate of 2 Timothy 2:2: "And the things that thou has heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

Charis Bible Studies—Beginning in Chicago, Illinois, in September of 2014, we launched our first Charis Bible Studies group, run by a Charis alumna. She went back into her hometown and began teaching Andrew's core materials to people who had no grace-and-faith church to attend. These Bible studies are meant to connect believers with Charis graduates who can help Andrew teach the Gospel in their areas. Now we have 126 Charis Bible Studies in twenty-seven states. By the end of 2016, we are projected to have 500 studies across the USA.

ARMI (Association of Related Ministers International)—ARMI, with its meetings and its annual conference in Colorado, is designed to meet the spiritual and emotional needs of those in full-time ministry and provide them with the tools to do what God's commissioned them to do. Started back in 2012, ARMI now has over 335 ministers in its network, and over 800 ministers attended the ARMI conference in the fall of 2015.

These results just demonstrate what true partnership is—people helping people. The money you sow into AWM is sown back into people. AWM is indeed good ground for your seed. Thank you for helping us help people. gt

2020 VISION

A PHASE II BUILDING UPDATE

If you've been keeping track of the building's progress, you know that in June 2015, Andrew was staring down a $2.5 million construction bill—something that didn't look like it could be paid. But God moved miraculously on the hearts of Andrew's partners, and the greatest influx of finances Andrew Wommack Ministries has ever seen came in! As Andrew said in a recent interview,

These buildings are just tools to help us make disciples of Christ and train up leaders to impact every sphere of influence—ministry, government, missions, business, media, and entertainment. These two buildings are the heart of Charis Bible College, but the vision goes far beyond this. Charis needs to minister to the whole person—spirit, soul, and body. That means we need to provide student housing, food services, gathering places for relationship building, and an events and activities center to start. I know God's plan for this place is much bigger than I originally thought, but I also know the supply is there. Just like God supplied my healing before I ever knew I needed it, He has supplied the finances to complete this project on time and debt free. The money is there; I just need to cast the vision and trust Him to bring it to pass.

If finances allow and construction can continue uninterrupted, Andrew's vision will be completed in approximately five years. His vision includes a full-service college campus, a parking garage, student housing, an activities center, and a food court. By the year 2020, Charis Colorado could disciple nearly 3,000 students each year and accommodate their physical needs in-house. Can you imagine the multiplication factor of such a group? Soon, entire sectors of society could be influenced by godly men and women. We could change the course of this country!

The estimated financial need for Andrew's 2020 vision is roughly $180 million. It's hard for most of us to imagine that much money. It may even be difficult to fathom how we, as ordinary people with ordinary budgets, can help. I know it sounds extraordinary, but it is doable. All it would take is 100,000 people giving $1 a day. One dollar. That's less than a cup of coffee. Set aside just $1 every day to help change the world. Join Andrew's 2020 vision!

GOING FARTHER WITH THE GOSPEL

GOSPEL TRUTH SEMINARS

A timely message awaits you at the next Gospel Truth Seminar.

Andrew's heart is to saturate the globe with the knowledge of God's unconditional love and grace. One of the ways he's doing that is by going city to city and holding GTSs. It's no wonder they have been going strong since 2003. It's common for the blind to see, bones to supernaturally mend, diseases to heal, cancer and tumors to vanish, and deaf ears to open. These three-day events include praise and worship, teaching, and prayer ministry for all who need it.

But Andrew isn't alone in changing people's perception of God at these events. It takes a team to accomplish great things for God. Knowing this, Andrew travels with Andrew Wommack Ministries staff and Charis Bible College students. These students have the opportunity to take what they've learned in the classroom setting and minister it to others. Andrew says that they sometimes get even greater results than he gets.

Other features of these events include special partner meetings and informational meetings about Charis and its various locations, the Association of Related Ministries International (ARMI), and Continuing Education for Ministers.

While complete restoration—spirit, soul, and body—is always available to every believer on an individual basis, these events provide an environment where like-minded believers can come together to accomplish more than they could on their own.

So, what are you waiting for? See if Andrew is coming to your area by checking out our website: www.awmi.net/events. Your life will never be the same! gt

SPREADING LIGHT IN THE SUNSHINE STATE

CHARIS BIBLE COLLEGE FLORIDA

Charis Bible College World Outreach is called “world outreach” for a reason! We want to take the life-changing message of God’s unconditional love and grace everywhere we possibly can—touching lives and making disciples for Christ.

Just before Jesus ascended into heaven, He told the disciples that they would be witnesses of Him “in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8). The disciples were to witness to those where they lived, then to those nearby, and then even farther out, until they reached the whole world. Charis World Outreach is following that model, particularly in Florida.

Danon Winter, a Charis Colorado graduate, wanted to take what he’d learned from Andrew and the other great instructors and share it with the people in his hometown of Jacksonville. So, he and his wife, Amanda, opened a part-time Charis Night School with thirteen students back in September 2006. They expanded to offer both part-time and full-time evening programs just two years later. In 2009, they added school during the day, and the Jacksonville campus is now offering the Third-Year Leadership Program. They’ve outgrown their facilities and have had to remodel to accommodate all the growth.

But, in keeping with Acts 1:8, the Winters haven’t stayed just in Jacksonville. An Orlando campus opened in 2009 and has been growing steadily ever since. It’s gone from having a part-time Night School to a full, first- and second-year operation! The search is on for a larger facility in order to equip more students for the call of God on their lives.

Tampa Bay’s campus began in 2012, as did Orlando’s satellite location in Clermont. Tampa Bay, like Orlando, has gone from small beginnings to being a fully operational Charis location. It, too, is in need of a larger facility. Clermont, a part-time school, just expanded to offer the second-year program. God is good!

These dynamic schools haven’t stopped there. They have been working in the Dominican Republic and in Nicaragua for several years. Their second-year students have taken missions trips there, working many miracles for the glory of God. One of their long-term goals is to open schools in those nations. Closer to home but still globally minded, the Orlando location is considering offering Charis classes in Russian. There are also plans for new local Charis locations. Only God knows how many people will be reached in the Sunshine State—people who will ultimately reach the world!

Florida Fruit

Charis World Outreach isn’t just about planting schools—it’s about changing people with the truth of God’s Word. And these Florida locations are showing the fruit of changed lives.

Yao Veerakitti was part of Jacksonville’s first graduating class. Since returning home to her native Thailand, she has ministered to hundreds of people and seen numerous salvations and healings. She also has her own radio program that reaches

IN MEMORY OF JUDY VOMACKA

Judy Vomacka had a burning desire for the Word of God. For three years, she drove from Tampa to Jacksonville—almost 250 miles—to attend school at Charis Jacksonville. That's a commitment few are willing to make. She remained faithful and completed her first and second years and an apprenticeship. Taking what she had learned and a desire for God, she and her husband, Ed, opened the Tampa Bay location in 2012.

Judy battled bone cancer just as she and Ed were preparing to start their first year in Tampa. She saw the victory, but the battle wasn't over. The cancer came back, and Judy recently went to be with the Lord. The legacy she leaves behind will not be forgotten. Her faithfulness has brought Charis to Tampa Bay, and her dedication is an inspiration to the body of Christ.

We'll see you in heaven, Judy!

hundreds of thousands all over Asia. The program is meant to teach English to Thais, but they're learning much more than that: Yao has been using the Bible as her text to teach English. So, while improving their English, they are learning the Word.

Bane and Jeannie Harrison, a couple who graduated from the Orlando campus, have a heart for Discipleship Evangelism. They currently teach a DE class at their church in Clermont (the same church that hosts the Clermont campus for free!), and they have taken DE to pastors in the Bahamas and Nicaragua. The pastors there then take DE and teach it to their congregations. The Harrisons have reached over 1,500 people through DE.

And the testimonies just keep coming.

Other graduates have seen the dead raised and healings manifest, including their own. Some have moved overseas to begin ministering to those in foreign countries. Others have stayed in Florida to minister to those there. And still others, who haven't even attended Charis, are reaping the benefits of what the students have learned. These people, who've been taught and ministered to by Charis staff and students, are now themselves spreading the love and deeds of God.

Charis Jacksonville started as just one school and has blossomed into four locations. Imagine what could be achieved for the kingdom of God if that were multiplied across the United States and around the world. But "how shall they preach, except they be sent?" (Rom. 10:15). The students, faculty, and staff of Charis World Outreach and Charis locations need partners to come alongside them through their prayers and finances.

It takes the entire body of Christ to be His hands and feet in the earth. No one can do it alone.

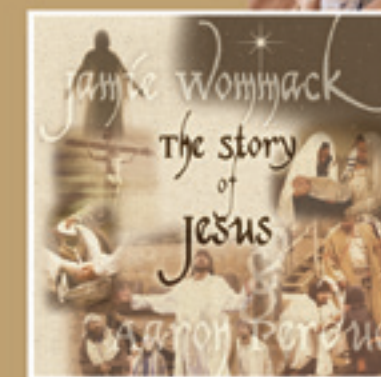

To become a partner, go to www.awmi.net/give. You can also give through our AWM Helpline: 719-635-1111. To find other Charis locations, in Florida and around the world, please go to www.charisbiblecollege.org/campus-locations.

Sow a seed that will reap an eternal harvest. Become a Charis World Outreach partner today! gt

Does your mind go to the worst-case scenario when you hear bad news about the future? You're not the only one. Dozens of websites will show you how to "prepare for the worst." Many people, even Christians, are buying in to the hysteria created by negative press. Now, while I believe in being prepared, I feel that this kind of prepping is getting out of control.

"Preppers," as they are often called, are "members of a growing subculture of Americans who spend time and money—lots of it—preparing for apocalyptic scenarios of various"¹ kinds. They stockpile guns and ammunition. They store up flour, sugar, water, and canned goods. They build bunkers in their backyards. And they aren't just people on the outskirts of society.

"The majority of preppers...are Christian conservatives who...are influenced at least in part by end-time theology."² This surprises me! Christians should be the last people preparing for some cataclysmic event. They've read the end of the Book—they know how it ends. If the world ends in their lifetime, it's because Jesus came back. What good would a pile of guns do at the Second Coming? If anything, they should be hoarding party supplies!

Some people will spend thousands upon thousands of dollars getting prepared for a perceived future threat. There are underground prepper condos that start at $2 million!³ These people don't see that the greatest investment they can make costs absolutely nothing—salvation is free! They need to focus on the security they have in Jesus and put their money into building God's kingdom, not some underground bunker. That's the better investment.

GOD'S KIND OF "PREPPING"

What has happened to Christians that they've started behaving this way? They've given in to fear. And what does a Christian need to be afraid of? God hasn't given them a spirit of fear (2 Tim. 1:7). They've listened to doomsday preachers, scientists, conspiracy theorists, and fear-mongers saying how the world's going to end: asteroids, solar flares, super-volcanoes, epidemics, ecosystem collapse, global war, robots, aliens, etc.⁴ Some claim that the end won't be a natural disaster but a governmental one. Governments and economies could collapse and take everything with them.⁵ Others think that one event will lead to another, and things will just snowball until everything is in ruins.⁶ I tell you, if you believe this stuff, the devil's going to eat your rations and pop your "bugout bags"! The world isn't going to end any of those ways. The last part of Psalm 93:1 says,

The world also is stablished, that it cannot be moved.

The world can't be moved. Thinking that we—mankind—could bring about the destruction of the earth is ridiculous. We can't destroy this earth any more than an ant can. Do you want to know how the world will end? I can tell you exactly how it will end:

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. [11] Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, [12] Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?

2 Peter 3:10-12

The Word tells us plainly that the earth will be burned up and that the Lord will create a new heaven and a new earth (Rev. 21:1). We don't need to fear asteroids or robots or plagues.

In fact, Scripture tells us that "there is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love" (1 John 4:18). If we're worried about the end of the world and stockpiling supplies to prepare for it, we are certainly not made perfect in love. We don't need more supplies or plans or ammunition—we just need God's love!

If we seek first God's kingdom, everything we need will be supplied to us (Matt. 6:33 and Phil. 4:19). Our storehouse should be in heaven, not in our backyards (Matt. 6:19-21). Trusting in the One who made the earth will do us a lot more good than trusting in ourselves to survive the destruction of the earth. We are given reassurance after reassurance in Scripture:

What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?

Romans 8:31

The best way to counter the fear that preppers are trying to inspire is to study the Word and learn what it says.
